MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Product Review Division, ICS
SUBJECT : Annual Report to the President

1. Attached is a copy of Part II of the Annual Report to the President, "Perform~~ance~~ Against Substantive Objectives," which Mr. Colby wishes to have completely rewritten.

2. What he wants is a qualitative assessment of what was learned during the past years with footnotes to specific estimates or other publications which reflect this new knowledge.

3. He suggested for instance we might indicate what was learned about the Soviet leadership situation, changes in the Soviet mood and the Soviet attitude towards SALT. On Vietnam he thought we might include something from the [REDACTED] review.

4. He mentioned that reference could be made to the stance of estimates and did they turn out to be right or wrong. He also wondered if we could cite where intelligence led to U.S. Governmental action.

5. He suggested that examples might be cited of instances in which raw information was of such significance that it went directly to top levels of the Government. If there were instances in which signals intelligence produced unique information, this might be cited.

6. Since PRD has closer access to substantive information than other elements of ICS, I request that you take a cut at redrafting this section. I suggest that contact with individual NIOs would be helpful.
